Risks and Fears

In general, any investment carries some risk and we believe that the company's investment portfolio is sufficiently diversified with respect to the economic sectors to reduce the risks associated with any single investment. The company's investment in new projects involves the risk of declining performance, as the performance of those participations may not be implemented as planned.

Expectations

The latest IMF World Economic Outlook reports for April 2026 revealed the continued challenges facing the global economy, alongside positive indicators reflecting the resilience of the Omani economy and its capacity for sustainable growth. The IMF lowered its global growth forecast to 3.1 percent in 2026, compared to 3.4 percent in 2025, with a slight improvement to 3.2 percent expected in 2027. This comes with escalating geopolitical problems, ongoing trade disputes, and pressures related to rising global debt levels and public budget deficits.

The report also indicated a projected rise in the global inflation rate to 4.4 percent in 2026, compared to 4.1 percent in 2025 and to decline to 3.7 percent in 2027, driven by energy price pressures and persistent supply chain challenges.

The Board of Directors anticipates that 2026 will be an interesting year, as macroeconomic conditions improve alongside oil process exceeding budgetary assumptions, while global sentiment remains weak due to ongoing conflicts.
